

HOME HAPPENINGS

—Albert Huxsaw has purchased a Ford runabout.

—Canfield will be strictly in the swim when she gets that $15,000 auditorium and gymnasium.

—Soon be time for the return of the blue birds and martins. When they arrive it is certain spring is not far away.

—John Callahan is having a large porch built across the front of his Lisbon street residence and making other improvements.

—The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Jarvis Deming Wednesday, April 1, at 2 p. m.

—Mild weather Tuesday and Wednesday brought sugar-making and several good runs were reported Wednesday by farmers in this neighborhood.

—Evidence is accumulating that spring has arrived. A band of gypsies passed through Canfield Tuesday, headed in the direction of Youngstown.

—A select dancing party in town hall Tuesday night, bidden by W. C. Wilson, was greatly enjoyed by a merry company of married and young people.

—Leander Moherman, who owns a fine farm just across the line in Boardman township, reports having found in a nest Wednesday a goose egg that measured 8 by 1 1/4 inches. Some egg, that.

—At its next meeting the village council will probably be asked to take measures to put a stop to dogs running at large. Dogs permitted to run at large have become so numerous that a number of complaints have been lodged with Mayor Jones.

—The Altimo Gas Co. expected to drill in another gas well Thursday but a defect in a part of the drilling outfit made it necessary to suspend operations until new parts could be secured. It is thought the well will be completed early next week.

—Last Saturday Tom Ankeny repeated his performance of 25 years ago by appearing on the street clad in a spring suit and wearing a straw hat. Weather conditions were such, however, as to give the impression that Tom was crowding the season.

—There will be a congregational meeting at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning when a vote will be taken on extending a call to a minister. The church has been without a regular pastor since the resignation and removal to Columbus last fall of Rev. R. E. Pugh.

—The dog poisoner has been getting in his work this week and several canines have been sent to the happy hunting grounds. While it is perhaps well to be rid of the dogs the manner of putting them out of the way is not to be commended. It would be much more humane to shoot them. And, again, there is a state law against the scattering of poison, and the party or parties guilty of that sort of thing stand a chance of being prosecuted if their identity becomes known.

—The illustrated travel talk to be given in college chapel Saturday evening by J. A. Clairmonte, lecturer and story teller, will be under the auspices of the Normal lecture course. This entertainment was secured in the hope of making up a part of the shortage which resulted from giving a double lecture course this season, and it is hoped liberal patronage will be given it. The admission for lecture course ticket holders will be only 25c and the same price for children. General admission, 25c. No reserved seats.

—William Swanson is without doubt the wealthiest man in Canfield township. On Tuesday he returned to Assessor Samuel Dickson for taxation more than $88,000 in personal property. In addition to this Mr. Swanson owns several farms in Mahoning and Portage counties. His return of personal property is the largest, with one exception, ever made in Canfield, the exception being B. E. Helman of Cleveland, a resident of the village more than a quarter of a century ago, who listed $131,000 in personal property. At that time he was the largest individual taxpayer in Mahoning county.

—A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of citizens was held in the Presbyterian church last week Thursday night when the matter of building an auditorium and gymnasium was discussed. The need of both have long been apparent and the interest manifested in the project indicates that citizens are a unit in a desire to carry it to a successful end. A number of plans were suggested at the meeting Thursday night for raising the necessary building fund, and a committee appointed is working out details to be presented at a future meeting. It was thought that the site of the old jail would be ideal for the new structure. Enough stone could be secured from the old building for the foundation of the new one. Estimates of the cost of a suitable and creditable building run from $10,000 to $15,000.

—Mrs. Hannah Powell, aged 65 years, died Sunday night at her home in Canfield from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy. She was buried Wednesday afternoon from the Canfield Methodist church of which she had long been a member.

—The trustees of Green township will on Saturday open bids for fifty thousand dollars worth of five per cent road improvement bonds. As Green township has no bonded indebtedness is expected the bonds will bring a top-notch premium.

—After driving his wife and children out of the house early Tuesday morning, Jesse Amon, a farmer 60 years old living near East Rochester, Columbiana county, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. Amon had frequently been before the probate court in Lisbon because of trouble he had with his family.

—Newton Falls News: Congressman J. J. Whitacre, who has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor against Cox, has stirred up things in the Democratic camp tremendously. Letters were sent by Whitacre to all the grange officers in the state asking them to give him their unbiased opinions as to the sentiment among farmers. The replies almost without exception tell of strong and in some cases almost violent opposition to the Governor, says Whitacre. The opposition to Cox is due largely to his concentration of power, depriving the people of home rule, the tremendous increase of tax-eating additions to the government and the odium of the Cox machine and liquor license law.

Let's May Accompany Package. Just why somebody did not have an accompanying package to the lecture is the question that follows the reading of one of the latest orders of the Postmaster General. He decrees that when the sender of a parcel post package on which postage at the fourth class of parcel post rate is fully prepaid, desires that it may be accompanied with a communication which is not a permissible enclosure with matter mailed at that rate, the communication may be placed in an envelope, fully prepaid at the first class or letter rate of postage, and be attached to the parcel.

In other words packages and letters can be sent together, thus insuring that the two will arrive at their destination at one and the same time.

PRETTY THOUGHTS

When I have a pretty thought
(And pretty thoughts come sweetly
To one and all at times—and ought!)
I write it very neatly.

It smiles appreciation when
With pretty words I dress it;
And like a lover true, my pen
Will tenderly caress it.

This makes me say, with proper pride,
"That's really a first rater!"
I think I'll put the thing aside—
Perhaps I'll use it later."

So in any desk with poems old
'Twill lie I'll never heed it
Till some day, when the writing's cold—
And then I cannot read it!

And this explains the cruel fact
(Which really is nerve-racking!)
That, though I go the rhyiming act,
The "pretty thought" is lacking.

—Griff Alexander.
